The LARP that claimed to work at the Keck observatory in Hawaii said that the supposed "massive spacecraft" coming from Jupiter to Earth would arrive tomorrow. It seemed to have been detected on Jupiter in early November. According to them, an autist from Poland decoded a signal that was coming from it which gave them a "fierce-looking symbol" which indicated to them that it does not have good intentions.

Hello,
I work at the Keck Observatory (real) on the summit of Mauna Kea, Hawaii. My job is not as an astronomer- but as a system engineer. On November 8th of 2020, there was a strange light emitting from the planet Jupiter. I am not a scientist, but I heard many around the observatory buzzing with excitement at what it could be. Some were spreading rumours of an explosion of some sorts, others had their own theories. There was no final conscious as to what it was until November 16th, that's when the light started to gather and took the form of something very big.

My co-worker is a great person, and he spilled the beans to me. Here is everything he told me:
>The light is in fact not a light but a solid craft.
>Nobody knew what it was >Feds got involed
>foreign agents are stationed at the observatory >foreign researchers as well >strange signals that were like morse code in gamma blasts started hitting Earth >unintelligible gibberish from our point of view >November 21st some autistic Polish mathematician "decoded" the signal. I have no more details outside of that.
>The signal was not so much a translation, but more like a symbol. The symbol was something fierce looking apparently. Even astronomer friend doesn't know what it was exactly.
>Craft is invisible to all but a few telescopes on Earth. One of which is here at the Keck Observatory

>DATE OF ARRIVAL TO EARTH HAS BEEN SET AT DECEMBER 2ND AT 9:45AM PACIFIC STANDARD TIME

This is all I know. Call it larp i really don't care. These aliens are NOT friendly as far as my friend is concerned. That's the consensus so far.

Cover story. It was a DEW. Which is more likely? It just coincidentally collapsed or that a beam of energy burnt through the supports? :^)

I don't even think Dew's are that accurate.
I've seen the after pics there is no sign of an energy weapon being used.
